

2 groups of MI are facing each other. Unit A is directly in front of unit Z. The gap between A and Z is less than one UD and unit A is in ZOC of unit Z.

It is the red player's turn and his Commander has enough CP. Unit B is charging unit Z. Unit B is making contact with the flank unit Z.

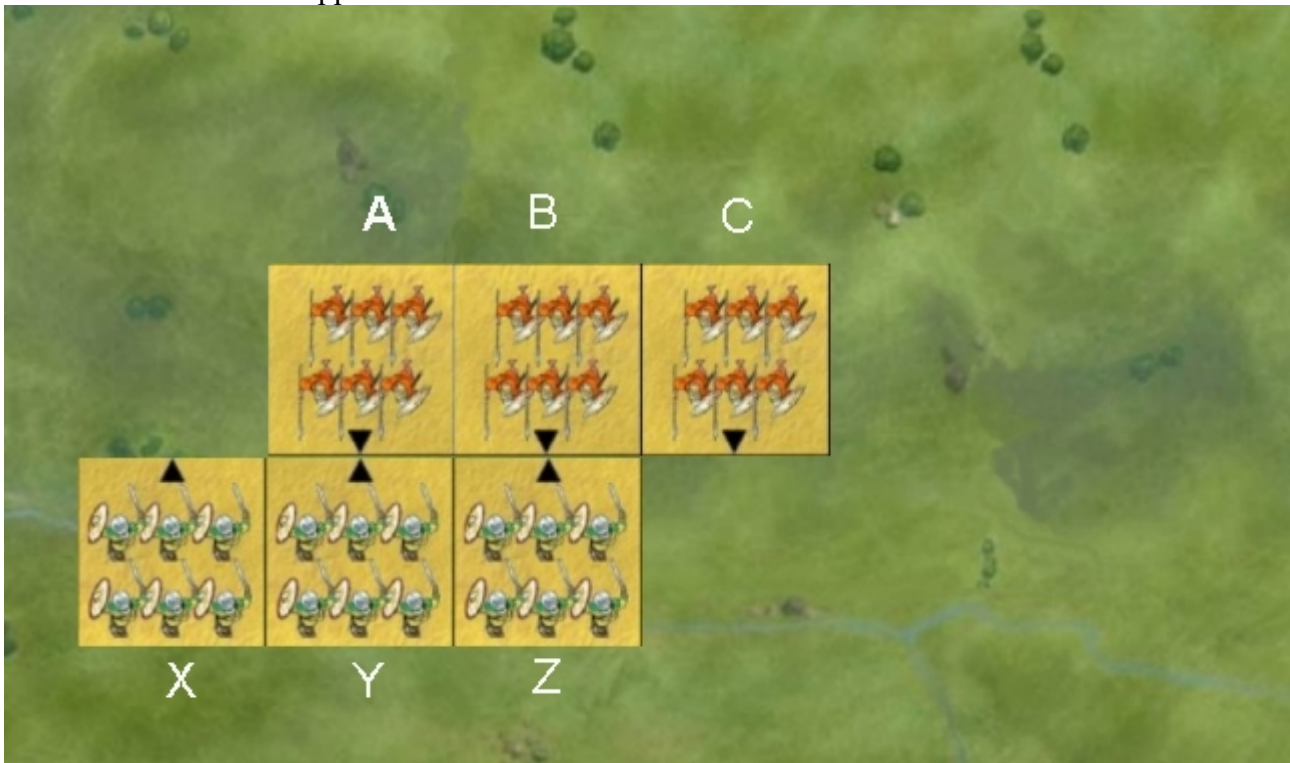

Because unit B did not start the charge move in the flank of unit Z it has to conform to the front edge of unit Z. While conforming unit B is displacing unit A.

Unit C move into support of unit B.

And unit A move into support of unit B.

Were these legale moves?
